VOLUME CVIII.--NO. 278. ALEXANDRIA, VA., FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 22, 1907. PRICE 2 CENTS.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

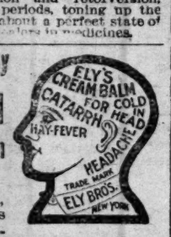
By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

A Reliable Remedy FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.



It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane resulting from Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail. Liquid Cream Balm for use in atomizers 75 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Catarrh

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

SENATOR SPOONER'S SPEECH.

The dinner of the Chamber of Commerce at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, last night, was enlivened by a speech by former Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, who, without mentioning him by name, pitched into President Roosevelt in strong fashion. Senator Spooner said that the constitution had been all right for the country in times of war and peace up to the last few years. He praised the bankers and business men of the city, saying they had done more in the financial troubles than Congress could have done. There was altogether too much general criticism of business men, he said, and corporations were here to stay, the country under the present conditions not being able to get on without them.

Whatever references to the financial situation were made were in a hopeful tone, starting from President Simmons, who said a few words before he announced the first toast. "The President of the United States." Mr. Cortelyou was to have answered to this, but as he was not there, no one answered to it and the toast was drunk almost in silence.

Among other things, Senator Spooner in his speech said:

"I think the people of the United States ought to think a long time before they allow the commerce of the United States to be put in a straitjacket, to be tightened or loosened as some one at Washington may think best. (Applause.)

"Let us keep the channels of commerce free, allowing no one, corporations by contract, in unreasonable restraint of trade, or any power to obstruct the free transit of products and commodities from State to State, not only innocuous in their nature, but necessary to the people. Frederick the Great said, and it was a great saying: "If I wish to punish a province I would have it governed by philosophers."

"War on corporations is unreasoning, in many instances hateful, because corporations have contributed their share to the situation in which this country finds itself. Corporations are as essential to the commerce of this day, and always will be, as money.

"Who stemmed the tide of distrust and suspicion that seemed to overwhelm the business and people of this country? It was not the federal government. It helped all it could. It was the strong, patriotic, resourceful bankers and financiers of this great city, led by the uncrowned king of them all, J. P. Morgan, who accomplished more in the way of correcting bad methods, of holding men to the faith involved in trusteeship, then a Congress could do in a dozen years.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

BARBER ROBBED.

The Baltimore police are making a thorough search for two men, who, in a clever manner, flimflammed Julius Greenberg, who conducts a barber shop on east Fayette street, of $2,000 in gold coin. The two men told Greenberg that they had a plan whereby he could make from 30 to 60 per cent. on his money, and that it was an easy matter. When Greenberg finally investigated his investment he found that he had secured about 40 pounds of iron washers for his $2,000.

Sunday last Greenberg went to detective headquarters and said that a man came to him and told him that he had a preparation whereby he could make old gold look like new, and make brass appear to be gold. Greenberg said he finally consented to invest in the scheme because the men told him what great profits could be realized. Accordingly Greenberg, on November 8, met two men, and together they went to a room on Jackson street.

Greenberg said the men told him to put his gold coins in a car, which they showed him. This Greenberg said he did. The men started to mix a preparation, and then sent Greenberg down stairs to get some hot water. While he was getting the water the men switched his coins. When he returned with the water a plaster of paris paste was mixed and another sheet-iron arrangement cemented shut. The men placed a cross-mark on the top, and told Greenberg to take it home and keep it for 11 days.

Sunday Greenberg grew suspicious and brought the cemented package to headquarters. The police after hard work removed the plaster of paris cover. When the arrangement was broken open about 40 pounds of iron washers rolled out.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by E. S. ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 22, 1907.

DR. WILLIS FLETCHER JOHNSON recently delivered a lecture on qualifications for citizenship before the committee on patriotism of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs in New York. Among other things he said:

There can be no citizenship until there is an organized State, of which men can be citizens, and each State has a right to determine who its citizen shall be and what shall be their qualifications. In the beginning Adam was the only citizen, and probably ruled Eve with a club. In patriarchal times the head of the family was supreme and the other members and servants had no rights which he was bound to respect. When governments arose, whether monarchical or democratic, conditions of citizenship were imposed. Catholic countries disfranchised Protestants and Protestant countries disfranchised Catholics. In this country the national constitution prescribes certain conditions of citizenship and the constitutions of the States add others. Practically the same forms of government which now exist existed centuries ago, supported by the same arguments, denounced for the same reasons. Nor has there been any material change in the disposition of sovereigns. Between Alexander and Napoleon there was no difference of kind and little of degree. And doubtless the early republics of Greece and Rome had their rings, and bosses, and ballot box stuffers, and fusions, and reformers, and mugwumps, just as we have them today. The only real advancement has been in the general character of the people, and in their relationship to the State—in brief, in the evolution of citizenship.

Dr. Johnson protested against allowing "any one and every one, without one serious thought of preparation, to rush headlong into the delicate, intricate and unspeakably important work of guiding the progress and determing the destinies of a mighty empire. If with a great price men were in old times eager to purchase the freedom of a Roman citizen, is it to much," he asked, "to demand that for the freedom, and the rights and the honor, and the almost infinite potentialities of American citizenship they shall pay the price of being virtuous, intelligent and industrious?" In conclusion the lecturer said:

That nation will be strongest and most enduring which learns most fully that the Kingdom of God cometh not through booms and deals and spread eagle campaigns; no, nor through occasional spasms of virtuous investigation and reform, but through the steady and general and incessant forward searching of the people toward that type of public and of private manhood which bears the impress of the form divine.

SOCIETY is no longer an attraction to the great middle class in New York, and this fact is given as a reason for the failure of the horse show at Madison Square Garden. Not in years has there been so good a display of horse flesh at Madison Square Garden as this year. Seldom has the number of society folk or the elegance of the women's dresses equalled that at the present show. But from the standpoint of spectators the exhibition is a frost. Society is out to see the horse, but the more important factor, people out to see society, is wholly lacking. And the reason it is suggested, is not far to seek. Revelations of corruption in high places, of breaches of trust by society leaders and wholesale departures from honest business methods have caused the people to lose the awe that formerly characterized them when illustrious society names were under consideration. And the departure of that awe has robbed the "400" of its potency as a box office attraction. The galleries are silent and the only other demonstrations come from the thin crowd of real horse lovers about the rail watching the evolutions of the show of the animals.

THERE ARE appeals for relief from one part of the world or another continually from the fact that the poor and distressed we will have with us always. But in the light of facts which are often shown many persons naturally hesitate to respond to worthy objects, fearing their money will not reach the persons for whom it is intended. It has recently been shown that considerable sums have gone into the pockets of people, often self-appointed, who were posing as distributors of charity funds. A dispatch from Rome shows that of the money subscribed to relieve Calabrian earthquake victims in 1905 more than $500,000 was stolen. King Victor was the largest contributor. He visited the stricken area in person and, in addition to his own gifts, ordered large grants to several hospitals which, it is now said, were packed with sham victims of the earthquake. Local mayors, rich landlords, municipal councilors and contractors got most of the plunder.

MR. R. L. GORDON, JR., of Louisa county in a circular letter announces himself a candidate for Congress from this district and will submit his claims to the democratic primary, if one is held next summer. Mr. C. C. Carlin, of this city, it will be remembered, was nominated last summer, and elected on the eighth of the month by a handsome majority to fill the unexpired term in Congress of the late J. F. Rixey. It is customary in this district to give a man at least two terms, and Mr. Gordon's entrance into the field before Mr. Carlin has even taken his seat appears to the latter's friends, a little hasty to say the least.

EVIDENCE is accumulating that the financial interests in New York, which virtually control the banking situation throughout the country, are prolonging the business depression and currency stringency in an effort to hold up the government for additional profits on the new debt certificates and Panama canal bonds.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Nov. 22.

In view of the number of applications in hand for the new certificates of indebtedness, it is said that the proposed issue of $100,000,000 may be over-subscribed within the next week. It is understood that the applications to date aggregate $50,000,900. Secretary Cortelyou began the allotment of the certificates almost a week earlier than he expected on account of the demand particularly from the south and west, just where he was especially desirous of placing deposits for the moving of corps. Unless present plans are changed, a large part of the money received by the banks will be left on deposit with the purchasers. The most difficult phase of the certificate issue is that relating to the applications of national banks. The main purpose of the issue being to increase the supply of money, Secretary Cortelyou makes a stipulation that those banks predicating their offer upon public deposits must use the certificates for additional circulation. Many of the bidder have reached the limit allowed by law. They feel that they should not therefore be eliminated from profiting by the issue. There are other bank applicants who do nor make any reservations. The New York syndicate had a string tied to its offer. It wanted all or a great part of the $25,000,000, paid for the certificates left at public deposits in the banks composing the syndicate. It is said this offer has been declined and the prospective purchasers informed that all offers must be entirely free from limitations.

Fifty open air meetings are being held in the city as the beginning of the religious campaign that is to be waged during the sessions of the thirty-sixth annual international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America the next four days. The first session of the convention itself was held at 10 o'clock at the D. A. R. Hall There were nearly 2,000 delegates present, including a large representation from Canada and three Japanese delegates. Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session, while tonight Ambassador James Bryce, of Great Britain, and Gov. R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, will speak. William Jennings Bryan is to take part in the street campaign for men, by speaking from the south steps of the Treasury tomorrow afternoon.

The attacks made upon the President by Senator Spooner yesterday and Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court the day before has caused the Executive's friends to come to the conclusion that the "Roosevelt Knockers Club" is growing in membership. The roster now includes quite a glittering array of prominent men and women. President Roosevelt's friends say they are not at all worried over the recent accession of prominent men to the ranks of the "Club" According to their view point nearly every one has a particular grievance that is not reflected by the attitude of the country at large.

Rear Admiral Robert M. Berry, commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard, has informed the Navy Department that the torpedo boat Shubrick collided early today in Hampton Roads, with the Maryland, of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Steamship Company. The Shubrick was considerably damaged. No one aboard was hurt.

The stork has called at the residence of former Supreme Court Justice Henry C. Brown, and left a handsome boy. As the youngster was fully dressed, was about three weeks old, and arrivee in a peather suit case, the visit was somewhat out of the ordinary. Mrs. Brown coddled the new arrival until it was taken in by the police, who are now searching for the parents.

It is announced that on the occasion of the Bryan dinner to be held here next Tuesday night at the Raleigh Hotel, and which will be attended by prominent men of the party from all over the country, Mr. Bryan will answer the much discussed question: "What is a democrat?" Incidentally he will show the difference between the republican and democratic parties, and why certain of the so-called Roosevelt policies cannot be supported by good democrats.

The President has appointed the following military aides for the coming social season: Capt. R. O. Van Horn, Capt. Sherwood A. Cheney, and Lieut. Thomas Holcomb, jr.

In order to obtain a full quota of the fourth-year class cadets at the Military Academy, the War department has decided to call the attention of Senators and Representatives who have not yet made their nominations to the fact that the names are desired as early as possible. About sixty vacancies exists at the present time.

Laboring to draft a resolution that will be acceptable to each of the five interested republics and which will define their future relations and provide for the arbitration of all kinds of disputes the committee of the Central American conference entrusted with this important duty is still at work here.

The first race at Bennings, today was won by Oraculum, 9-10; Right and True, 3-1; Workman, 1-1.

Representative Carlin, elected last fall to succeed the late J. F. Rixey as member of the House from the Eighth District, will receive compensation from the date of his election. There appears to have been a misapprehension on the subject. There was a contention that Mr. Carlin would be entitled to compensation from the fourth of March, 1907, the date on which the terms of members of the Congress to which he was elected, begin. The House itself has decided that members elected to fill vacancies, however created, shall be entitled to compensation from the date of their election.

State Department officials are much interested in the purpose of the Chinese government to send a third special commission of high officers to the United States as a part of the programme of the new policy to study the general commercial, industrial, educational, economical and financial conditions of this country. The commission will reach this country in January. An official will be delegated by the State Department to meet them and escort them to the various commercial centers. It is expected that Washington will be included in the intinerary.

In view of the prospective shortage of Congressional appropriation with which to properly prosecute the work of building the Panama Canal during the present fiscal year, the Isthmian Canal Commission has adopted a policy of economy by uncovering old barges and dredges abandoned by the French company rebuilding them, and putting them in commission at a cost small in proportion to what they would cost new.

The Grant county venirs for the Caleb Powers trial arrived at Georgetown, Ky., after a battle for jurymen waged yesterday and last night probable without parallel in Kentucky. Arthur Goebel, brother of the murdered statesman, took a hand in summoning veniremen in person.

The Market.

Georgetown, Nov. 22.—Wheat 73@73,

MR. BRYAN.

William Jennings Bryan, in an interview in Washington last night, put himself in the position of being willing to lead his party, as distinguished from being a receptive or active candidate for the democratic nomination. He puts it this way:

"Having twice led the party and having been twice defeated, I am no more a candidate, but if I am drafted, I will not run away."

Mr. Bryan gave out the following statement in regard to the financial situation:

"I do not know what the effect of the new bond issue will be, but it seems to me that the relief ought to come from the other direction. The plans so far have been intended to furnish government money to the banks, whereas the most important thing now is to restore confidence in bank depositors, and thus not only prevent withdrawals, but secure deposits. While the banks are good and while the depositors are not justified in being frightened, some depositors are unreasonable and their timidity may embarrass the banks. If the money that is being hidden and hoarded can be brought back into circulation the present stringency will disappear at once. It does no good to supply money from the Treasury if an equal or a greater amount is drawn out by depositors.

"The administration is prepared, so we are informed, to recommend a postal savings bank. While this would doubtless encourage deposits, and while these deposits could in turn be handed over to the banks, it does not furnish complete relief, for the reason that the plan as presented permits deposits and does not contemplate the opening of circulating accounts. The business community, therefore, cannot use the postal savings banks to any great extent, and, besides, it would take sometime to inaugurate a postal savings system and secure the necessary number of employes to make the plan effective throughout the country. I believe it is possible for the government to give immediate relief by an act of Congress providing for the guarantee by the government of all deposits in national banks, the banks thus guaranteed to agree to reimburse the government for any losses incurred, and to make this reimbursement in proportion to their deposits.

"The advantage of this plan is:

"First—That every depositor in such guaranteed banks will feel secure.

"Second—The expense of it will be paid by the banks which get the benefit of it, and this expense will be small compared with the benefit gained.

"Third—It can be put into effect immediately, and thus restore confidence and enable business to be resumed.

"It is probable that all of the national banks would be willing to take advantage of this guarantee because the additional security given to their depositors would be of great advantage to the banks. During 40 years the average annual loss to depositors has been small, less than 1-10 of 1 per cent. on the deposits so small that it would be an insignificant tax upon the four or five billion dollars of deposits. The government would have ample security in the capital and surplus of the banks which would voluntarily join in the plan.

The only objection that occurs is that state banks might be less attractive to depositors if national banks are guaranteed. But there are two answers to this objection. In the first place state banks are likely to suffer if this financial stringency continues, and they are, therefore, interested in restoring confidence; in the second place there is no reason why state banks should not be protected by a similar system under which the state would guarantee depositors in state banks and collect the expense from the state banks guaranteed.

"I proposed, when in Congress, the raising of a guarantee fund for the protection of depositors, but the bill was defeated by the larger banks on the ground that the big banks would have no advantage over the little ones if all depositors were secured; but now that the big banks are suffering as much as the little ones the objection will hardly be made. The plan which I then proposed would furnish protection as far as the fund would furnish it, but it would take time to raise such a fund, and I believe it is better for the government to make the security absolute by becoming guarantor, for this system can be put into operation at once, and that, too, without expense to the government, inasmuch as the banks would reimburse the government from time to time in case the government was called upon to pay the deposits of any failed bank."

Serious Condition in Portugal.

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 22.—King Carlos gave orders today for a concentration in Lisbon of all regiments on whose loyalty he thinks he can rely. Those in which there is believed to be much disaffection are being sent to the provinces.

A republican uprising against the crown and Premier Franco, who still refuses to call parliament together, is imminent. The government is prepared to meet force with force. Spies are watching every movement of the republican leaders. Special precautions are being taken to prevent the issuance of a revolutionary proclamation to the army.

Commercial conditions are added to the difficulty of the political situation. Trade is paralyzed. Many financial institutions have suspended, and nearly every foreign bank doing business in Lisbon has refused further transactions with financial institutions.

All who are able are emigrating to France in anticipation of mob violence.

Hundreds of persons are arrested daily, many newspapers have been suppressed and the others are forbidden to give any inkling of the true state of affairs.

Two men were killed and a third fatally injured Sunday by the explosion of an infernal machine in a house in the heart of the city. The house was evidently a revolutionists' headquarters. The bomb is supposed to have gone off prematurely. News of the accident has but just leaked out, so strict is the censorship.

The Giant Cunarders.

New York, Nov. 22.—No word has been received from the new big Cunarder Mauretania since she reported at 1 this morning that she was then 200 miles off Sandy Hook. One of the densest fogs of the season prevails off the hook, and it is generally believed Captain Pritchard is keeping his giant charge well off the coast until it lifts. Great crowds are about the Cunard pier here waiting for the big liner, but it is doubtful if she docks before late afternoon.

At 12:30 the Mauretania's commander reported to her owners that he was anchored outside of the hook and would not attempt the passage of the channel to quarantine until the fog lifts.

New York, Nov. 22.—At 12:30 the Mauretania was still anchored outside the bar and and the fog was so thick she could not be seen from Sandy Hook. At the Cunard offices it was stated the big vessel might make an attempt to enter at half tide this afternoon, if the fog lifted. It will not be high tide again until 9:30 tonight, and rather than delay entering the port until night, or prehaps tomorrow morning, it was thought Capt. Pritchard might try the passage without waiting the flood tide.

Liverpool, Nov. 22.—The Lusitania has docked here. Her official time was four days, twenty-two hours and fifty minutes, a new eastern record.

Train Robbed.

Paris, Nov. 22.—Shooting two guards who resisted them and forcing the engineer to cut loose from the train while they looted the cars, three first-class passengers held up the Orleans line express early today and escaped with two cash boxes full of money.

The trio took the train at Etampes, swung themselves from the car at a lonely stopping point some distance outside the city, covered the engineer with their revolvers and, just as he was complying with their order to abandon the train and pull some distance away, opened fire on the guards as they rushed to the spot to investigate the cause of the delay. After two of the railroad men had fallen seriously injured, the rest retreated and the robbers seized the cash boxes, which they evidently knew were on board, and fled. The passengers rallied after their disappearance and started in pursuit, but failed to overtake the bandits.

More Earthquake Shocks.

Rome, Nov. 22.—Help is being hurried to Calabria, where more earthquake shocks are reported to have occurred yesterday. How much damage was done is not known. It is certain, however, that the preceeding shocks caused heavy losses and that many are homeless and destitute.

Tokio, Nov. 22.—The entire empire was shaken by an earthquake early today. Reports have been received from as far north as Hokkaido, the northernmost island of the archipelago. More than 1,000 miles of coast is embraced in the area affected. No damage was done in Tokio, but full reports have not yet been received from many cities and much uneasiness is felt.

Borrowing Money.

New York, Nov. 22.—It was stated on Wall street today that as a result of the tight money market many holders of life insurance policies have been compelled to borrow on the premiums already paid in. In the case of the big companies it is stated their loans along these lines have since November 1, run into the millions and the amount now out as loans by insurance companies generally is the largest in the history of the business.

The Borough Bank Looting Case.

New York, Nov. 22.—Although ten indictments have already been returned by the King's county grand jury in the Borough Bank looting case the end is not yet. That body is today continuing its investigation of the queer methods pursued in managing the institution's business, and Assistant District Attorney Roberts expects other persons will have to explain their actions in court.

Charges Forgery.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Frederick W. McLean, former assistant cashier of the Chicago National Bank and confidential man to John R Walsh, testified today in the Walsh trial that February 27, 1904, he, at Walsh's direction, forged the names of five men to six notes of $100,000 each and that Walsh drew the money from the bank. He said that, without warrant from the men but under Walsh's instructions, he signed G. W. Clarkson's name to two notes of $100,000 each and the name of C. P. Collins, A. M. Weeks, F. L Lewis and G. P. Pagaris to notes of $100,000 each. When the notes became due June 1, 1904, he said, they were taken up with cashier's credit slips and new notes made out. Eight per cent. discount was allowed to the bank notes, he said. The five men are said to be other employes of Walsh. McLean recently has been living in Crooseland, Canada. He returned to Chicago to testify.

National Democratic Committee.

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 22.—It was practically decided by the members of the democratic committee today that the full meeting of the committee would be held in Washington the middle of December. At that time the final decision will be reached as to the time and place of holding the national convention.

Denver is to make the hardest fight for the convention. There is a growing sentiment for Tom L. Johnson, of Ohio, for chairman to succeed Tom Taggart. The sentiment increases with the arrival of each additional Byran enthusiast.

President Zelaya to Resign.

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, has offered to resign on condition that a confederation of five Central American States be formed, and on this basis the Washington peace conference is working, according to information received here from a source which cannot be doubted. Though the conference will make out its programme before adjournment, action will not be immediate, the conference having voted not to consider the acceptance of Zelaya's resignation for one year, and at the expiration of that period to take active steps toward the proposed union.

Steve Adams to Be Rearrested.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Nov. 22.—If Steve Adams is acquitted by the jury which is trying him for the murder of Fred Tyler, he is to have but a few moments of liberty. Believing that his acquittal is assured, officials from Colorado are now on their way to this city to place him under arrest on the charge of murdering Arthur Collins. Collins was killed while manager at Telaride during labor troubles.

Closing of Another Bank.

Globe, Ariz, Nov. 22.—Globe today is without a national bank in operation. The First National has closed its doors. The Globe National closed last week. Heavy drawings of exchange since the Globe suspended forced the First National to suspend. J. N. Porter, president of the First National, has extensive banking interests in Texas and Arizona. The First National had deposits aggregating $750,000.

Federation of Labor.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 22.—A resolution was adopted by the American Federation of Labor convention today allowing each union to adopt its own label. A special order was adopted to elect officers tomorrow morning. President Gompers and other officers will probably be re-elected without opposition, Victor L. Berger, socialist of Milwaukee, who has annually fought Gompers, came out for him today.

Bank to Pay All Demands.

New York, Nov. 22.—Announcement was made today by Isaac A. Hopper, president of the Empire City Savings Bank in Harlem, which took advantage of the thirty days' notice provision of the law to avoid a run, that all depositors who gave notice on October 24, will be paid tomorrow. He expects the demands will equal $100,000 and says ample funds are on hand to meet withdrawals.

England Seizes an Island.

Manila, Nov. 22.—England has seized Pedro Blanca Island, near Hong Kong, and is fortifying it. It is a strong strategical point.

Pedro Blanca is not named on any atlases and is probably known also by some Chinese name.

Killed in Hotel Fire.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 22.—One unknown man is dead, two other are dying at the hospitals and seven others just escaped with their lives as the result of a fire which partly destroyed the Sawtelle Hotel, a three-story brick structure at No. 110 Exchange street, this morning.

Workmen Furlouged.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The New York Central Railway has laid off about four hundred of its shop employes at West Albany, approximately one quarter of the entire force. It is stated the lay off is only temporary.

Chapped hands are quickly cured by applying Chamberlain's Salve. Price, 25 cents. For sale by Gibson and Timberman and W. F. Creighton and Company.

THE RAILROADS.

President Finley, of the Southern Railway, has been in the city during the last few days in connection with the matter of rates and charges as fixed by the State corporation commission. The visit is reported to have been made for the purpose of shaping up a plan or agreement whereby all the litigation now pending may be brought to an end. There is good reason to believe that there will be an end to all the trouble—and that they will "live happy ever afterward."

The report is that the railroads are anxious to put an end for all time to litigation. They want, according to reports, some reasonable assurance that there will be no change in the rates for some time—say, five years. They are said to see that the agitation is affecting them in many ways, and they are anxious to live at peace with the people with whom they deal.—[Richmond News Leader.

LORD FAIRFAX RETURNING.

After several years of indecision between remaining plain "Mr. Albert Kirby Fairfax, U. S. A.," or taking the title of Lord Fairfax, twelfth Baron of Cameron, Lord Fairfax has chosen the title and is returning on the steamer Adriatic, which left Southampton last Wednesday, to resume his business career in Wall street, New York.

Lord Fairfax is a member of the banking firm of William P. Bonbright & Co., and has been representing the firm in its London office for a year. Although the rightful possessor of the title for several years, Lord Fairfax hitherto has preferred to remain an American citizen.

When he returned from England in 1904, after having attended the coronation of King Edward as a peer, he still declared he was as profound an American as ever before, and remarked that no matter what his friends might prefer to call him, his baggage would always be marked "A. K. Fairfax, New York, U. S. A."

Even when his lordship left New York the last time he insisted he would return as he departed, an American citizen, but his friends say he has now declared allegiance to the British Crown, and that while he will continue his residence in this country he will, nevertheless, be a British subject as well as a British lord.

"Burke's Peerage" now gives his residence as "No. 22 Upper George street, Bryanston Square, W., London." Members of the firm of Bonbright & Co. state that while it was true that Fairfax had become a British subject, it was also true that he was just as good an American at heart as ever, and would continue to do business in this country.

Lord Fairfax inherits the title from his father, Dr. John Contee Fairfax of Calvert county, Maryland, who, like his American ancestors, declined to accept his rightful title and always remained plain Dr. Fairfax. The family has been prominent in the South, especially in Virginia, for more than two centuries.

The present Lord Fairfax is 37 years old, and has been employed by various Wall street firms for the last 15 years.

PLOTS IN PORTUGAL.

The investigation of the explosion of an infernal machine in Lisbon, November 18, when two anarchists who were manufacturing bombs were killed, a third being arrested, has revealed the existence of a far-reaching plot against the dictatorship. Over 700 bombs have been seized and the police have made eight arrests. The machine which exploded was intended for use in the San Carlos Theatre.

Popular excitement is growing as a result of the revelations; the censorship is strict. All public meetings have been forbidden and practically all the newspapers in Lisbon are being prosecuted for attacks upon the king and the papal nuncio, and several have been suppressed.

Senhor de Cunha, president of the Portuguese House of Lords, and vice president of the Bank of Portugal, who formerly was the tutor of King Carlos, announced yesterday that he can no longer support absolutism and that hereafter he will be a republican.

GROCER MURDERED.

E. S. Jefferson, a well-to-do grocer, sixty-five years old, was murdered last night one block from his home in Burlington, N. J. Mr. Jefferson was attacked by a highwayman within thirty feet of his door.

He was robbed and then strangled to death and his body placed across the railroad tracks near by. The body was hit by the Philadelphia accommodation train. The train was delayed while the crew and passengers were placing the body aboard, and the suspected murderer escaped on the west-bound train leaving Burlington three minutes before the east-bound accommodation arrived with the body and first news of the crime.

MR BRYAN'S LECTURE.

All the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of Mr. W. J. Bryan, who will lecture in the Opera House tonight, have been made, and a large audience will greet him. His subject will be, "The Old World and its Ways." The lecture will not only prove interesting, but instructive, as there is probably no other man better fitted by nature and acquirements to portray his impressions of the foreign countries he has visited and studied. Rev. C. D. Bulla, pastor of the M. E. Church South, will introduce Mr. Bryan and entertain him at the parsonage tonight. After the lecture the patrons will be admitted to the George R. Hill Memorial Hall, where a reception will be tendered Mr. Bryan.

DEATH OF M. T. CARTER.

Mr. Meriweather Thompson Carter died of Bright's disease at the Alexandria Hospital at an early hour this morning, aged 65 years. He leaves no family, his wife and children having died several years ago in Colorado, where he resided for a long time. A few years ago he returned to Virginia and recently made his home with his sister, Mrs. J. W. Rice, on south Pitt street. Besides his sister he leaves two brothers, Mr. O. F. Carter, of this city, and Mr. Joseph Carter, of Colorado. Mr. Carter was a native of Fauquier county but when a youth came to this city. He was a clerk in the city postoffice when the war broke out and going South entered the Confederate army in which he served faithfully till the close of hostilities.

THE MIDGETS CASE.

The Court of Appeals having dismissed the writ of error and supersedeas in the case of George Midgets, colored, convicted of murdering Chas. T. Smith on upper King street over a year ago, the next movement in the case will be to bring him from Fredericksburg to this city, arraign him before the Corporation Court and resentence him to be hanged. Judge Barley, who has recently been out of the city, has returned, but he has not as yet taken any steps in the matter. When Midgets shall have been brought back to Alexandria he will be placed in the city jail and confined there until the day of his execution.

THE OYSTER MARKET.

There is a small supply of oysters at the wharves, and they are selling at 65 cents per bushel. This time last week no oyster vessels were at this port. Most of the bivalves have for years been brought here in steamers. In the olden times the Alexandria oyster dock was an animated part of the city during winter months. All the oysters were brought here in sailing vessels and sold in the shell, and many persons were employed as shuckers. In those days housekeepers purchased the oysters from the boats and employed men to shuck and deliver them.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

There was but one case before the Police Court this morning. George Ryan and Harvey Robinson were arrested yesterday by Lieutenant Smith and Officer Roberts for fighting in a north Fairfax street saloon. Robinson had to be transported to the station house in a wagon. Ryan subsequently left $10 collateral for his appearance, but failed to answer when his name was called and forfeited his deposit. Robinson was fined $5 and made to pay 25 cents for wagon fare.

U. D. C.

A meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to R. E. Lee Camp was held last night, in Confederate Veterans' building with a goodly number in attendance. The members are actively engaged in getting ready for the annual oyster supper which will be held in the Camp Hall on the evenings of the 4th and 5th of December, and it is hoped that all members and friends of the organization will respond when called upon. The money accruing from these suppers goes, in part, to the taking care of the monument.

ATTACKED BY A HORSE.

While a resident of the city was near the intersection of King and Henry streets this morning he was suddenly attacked by a horse which was attached to a wagon. The animal caught the man by the shoulder of his coat and raised him off the ground, and, rearing on its hind legs, kicked at him with its front legs. Fortunately, the teeth of the horse did not reach the man's body, but they went through the heavy wadding of the coat, and tore the garment.

Its going to be mighty cold soon. The best way to prepare for such an emergency is to put in a supply of "Hot as Blazes." If you can't come to market ask you grocer, but insist upon getting just that brand. It has no equal. Sylvan Blondheim, City Market.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and catartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—MRS. ROSA POTTS, Birmingham, Ala. THE KINDERGARTEN.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

We would like to make a public acknowledgment of thanks to "M. M. A." for her clear and masterly statement of the benefits of kindergarten instruction.

Her grasp of the subject and her intuitive touch with the mind of the child makes it a valuable contribution to kindergarten literature and we wish for it a wider circulation than the schools of Alexandria. We have some knowledge of the good done for the children of Fairfax county by Mrs. M. M. A., who has supplemented her words by her works. With determined energy and interest she succeeded in securing the removal of the public school at Howardsville to a more suitable and advantageous location and now the clean, commodious new school house stands as a monument to her faithful farseeing efforts to promote the cause of education among the children of her neighborhood.

To her generosity is due the fact that the school term is prolonged beyond the time allowed by the appropriation, and her many kind and encouraging words to the one who presides over the desk and rule has brought a good reward.

THE BRADLEY TRIAL.

When Mrs. Bradley left the courtroom in Washington yesterday afternoon she seemed radiant and her counsel was delighted, for the day had unquestionably been most satisfactory to the defense. She had been on the stand all morning under a cross-examination, but never once had she said anything that materially injured her cause or that had contradicted her previous story of her unhappy life. In the afternoon a number of witnesses, all of them friends and constant associates of Senator Brown, had testified, telling of the horror of the situation that had developed out of her mad infatuation for Senator Arthur Brown.

"I acknowledge Arthur Brown and Martin Montgomery as my children by Annie M. Bradley" is inscribed on a sheet of writing paper presented in court by Col. Maurice W. Kaighn, who was attorney for Senator Brown and Mrs. Bradley. It was dated February 10, 1905. Colonel Kaighn had been Brown's intimate friend for thirty years. He was a witness in the case yesterday, as was also Attorney Barnes, of Salt Lake City. Both testified that Mrs. Bradley had been driven almost insane by Brown's refusal to carry out his promise to marry her.

After two and a half days on the witness stand, Mrs. Bradley completed her testimony.

More than 100 letters written by Brown to her and many written by Mrs. Bradley to Brown were offered as evidence in the case. In many of these Brown calls Mrs. Bradley his wife and many times asserts his intention of marrying her.

Colonel Kaighn described Mrs. Bradley's condition during the two years preceding the tragedy as "progressive nervousness," which term he explained in the course of his testimony, in reference to the 100 or more conversations he said he had had with Mrs. Bradley since he met her the first time. The term was regarded as strikingly descriptive and is likely to become a legal phrase in future cases of the same character; a phrase taking rank with the "brainstorm" of the Thaw trial.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Arthur Barnes, Assistant Attorney General of Utah, resumed his testimony concerning Mrs. Bradley's relations with Brown, when court opened today. He recounted an interview in which he told Brown that it was his duty to marry Mrs. Bradley. From the impression he acquired then, he told Mrs. Bradley that he did not believe Brown ever intended to marry her. "I never thought Mrs. Bradley an insane woman," said Barnes, "except on one subject—Arthur Brown. On this, I believe she had no control over herself."

Judge Henry E. Henderson, Brown's associate and law partner and acquaintance of 35 years, recounted how, on one occasion, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Brown met face to face. "At this time," said Judge Henderson, "Arthur had promised to get a divorce if Mrs. Brown didn't, and would stand by and protect Mrs. Bradley. Mrs. Brown wanted to speak to Mrs. Bradley but I stepped in between them and wouldn't let her. Mrs. Bradley seemed to be dominated by two absolutely inconsistent acts of emotions," he continued, "One was of intense gloom, the other of brightness and cheerfulness when she spoke of Brown. These would alternate suddenly."

The strain of insanity as it was manifested in the history of Mrs. Bradley's family was laid entirely bare by Shrewsbury, who continued on the stand at the afternoon session. Shrewsbury testified that not only his own wife was mad at times, but that her sister was confined in a sanitarium. Both of these aunts of Mrs. Bradley manifested the kind of insanity to which the defense will ascribe the impetus for the shooting of Brown—violence under severe mental stress.

In the battle of the experts which will be the second phase of the trial she will not lack contestants for her defense, though she is penniless. In her cause will be three famous alienists who have volunteered their services without compensation. These are Dr. Britton D. Evans, of Morris Plains, N. J., expert-in-chief of the Thaw trial, Dr. Charles D. Hill, of Baltimore, and Dr. Wilfred M. Barton, of Washington.

Sale of Gems Postponed.

Brussels, Nov. 22.—The divorced Princess Louise, King Leopold's wayward daughter, has secured a fresh postponement of the auction sale of the jewels left to her by her mother, the late Queen Maria Henrietta, until December 13. The princess still hopes to find some way of retaining possession of the heirlooms. How she proposes to do so is a puzzle, as her debts already aggregate almost $1,000,000 and King Leopold has refused to buy the gems either from his daughter or at auction, though they have been offered to him at less than half their real value.

NOTICE

ALEXANDRIA PUBLIC.

I have this day accepted the agency for the Patent Fin Hot Water Heater. It is now on exhibition in my store where you can inspect same. It is the most modern up-to-date Gas-heated Hot Water Radiator in the World.

When it is considered that we must depend on some method of artificially heating our homes and public places practically half the year, and that during this time our life is largely spent indoors in an artifical atmosphere and temperature, it certainly seems natural that we should use methods of heating that would not endanger health (by violating Nature's laws of physics and physiology), nor be needlessly expensive and wasteful. Yet, the fact is, a very small proportion of our homes and business places are healthfully, comfortably and economically heated.

The Patent Fin Hot Water Radiator does this or otherwise you may return it. Come in and let us explain it.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 22, 1907.

It Would Improve It.

A clergyman speaking on charity held that charity which was not graceful and clean was bound to fail, bringing to the donor scorn instead of gratitude.

"Thus," he once said in a Sunday school address, "a rich landlord while making the round of his tenants' cottages collecting rents met a little girl whose beauty much impressed him.

"In the shabby front room of the cottage the landlord talked for awhile with the little girl, and as he rose to go an unwonted feeling of kindliness warmed his heart.

"'Let me see,' he said, fishing in his pockets—'let me see if I haven't something to give to this dear little girl.'

"And, smiling and chuckling, he went through pocket after pocket. Finally in his hip pocket he found a peppermint drop, a white peppermint drop. He dusted the fluff and lint from it and extended it gayly to the little girl.

"'Here we are,' he cried. 'I thought we had something. Here is a nice peppermint drop for you. And now,' he ended, 'what will you do with it?'

"'Wash it,' said the little girl gravely."

Beginnings of Baseball.

The history of the American game dates from the first National Association of Baseball in New York in 1858. The first series of important match games was played between picked nines of Brooklyn and New York, at Flushing, in the same year. Nearly 2,000 persons—a large crowd for those days—paid their 50 cents a head to see the contest. The rules of baseball were very crude in those days. The pitcher's position was simply limited to a twelve foot line forty-five feet from the home base, behind which he could take any number of slips he wished. All he was required to do was to pitch the ball as near as possible over the home base. There was no penalty for wild pitching or for refusing to strike at fair balls. I once saw a pitcher deliver sixty balls to a single batsman in one inning before there was a strike. Not until 1870 were there any paraphernalia for defense. Old time catchers' hands were a sight with their cracked joints and bruised palms.—Harry Chadwick in Outing.

French Bulls.

The number of phrases of the class called "bulls" to be found in polite works are not all the product of the Irish brain.

A novel that was crowned by the French academy as possessed of unusual merit contained a sentence of which the following is a translation:

"It was midnight. A man who lay in ambush listened to their conversation, but suddenly a dense, dark cloud passed in front of the moon and prevented him from hearing more."

Another phrase, written in downright seriousness by a master of French criticism, runs something like this:

"It was one of those duels in which one of the blades literally buries itself in the heart of the other."—Minneapolis Journal.

Their Little Surprise.

They were elopers, and the stern parent was supposed to be in pursuit. But he wasn't. On the contrary, a telegram awaited them at the next town. "Is it forgiveness?" asked the agitated youth as he handed it to the angelic one. She read it through and burst into tears. Then the startled youth took it and read it aloud. "Your mother and I offer congratulations. Your hasty action meets with our approval. We can now carry out a plan that we have long contemplated and that was delayed only because we had you with us. In other words, we are about to break up housekeeping and go into a flat!"—Argonaut.

Helpless!

A city man had a friend in from a north country farm on a business matter the other day, and they lunched together at a restaurant. The Cork man ate his meal entirely with his knife. When he was near the end he discovered that he had no fork.

"Look here," he said to the city man, "that waiter didn't give me a fork."

"Well, you don't need one," replied the city man seriously.

"The deuce I don't!" came from the farmer. "What am I going to stir my coffee with?"—London Opinion.

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough,

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee Imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for coffee. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

He Fought at Gettysburg.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alterative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by all druggist. 50c

Two Ways of Looking at It.

There is a young artist in Washington who classes himself as of the impressionistic school and who, being somewhat out in drawing, generally makes up for his lack of technique by spreading color recklessly and counting on distance for his effect.

At an amateur exhibition he once hung one of his most extraordinary performances.

"Well," said a friend whom the artist had taken to see the work, "I don't want to flatter you, old chap, but that is far and away the best stuff you have ever done. I congratulate you."

Much pleased, the artist was receiving the compliment with becoming modesty when he chanced again to glance at the picture and turned very red. The committee had hung it upside down.

Hurrying to the head of the committee, he was about to launch into a loud complaint when he was informed of the good news that an hour before the picture had been sold for $61. The original price mark had been $19.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Where the Horse Bit George.

"Now, please show me the spot where the horse bit George Washington," was the astonishing request made by a country visitor of his host, a downtown publisher. The latter had escorted him about and shown him the statehouse, the Liberty bell, Carpenter's hall, old Christ church, the grave of Benjamin Franklin and the site of the house in which Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence. The publisher had never heard of the spot where the horse bit the Father of His Country, but, equal to the emergency, he took his guest to Washington square and said that it was in one of the corners of that space (which one he did not know) that the horse did the biting, in commendation of which event the square was named after the general. The gentleman from Down Yonder Somewhere was fully satisfied and has gone home full of good, ready made history to tell his neighbors. It would be interesting to ascertain the identity of the wag who sprung this one on George Washington.—Philadelphia Record.

When Reynard Goes Hunting.

Those who have tried wild fowl shooting know how difficult a matter it is to approach within range without disturbing the birds. The fox's only weapon is his mouth, and the range is necessarily short, but for reynard it proves all sufficient. His knowledge of the habits of his victims prompts him to a suitable lurking place among the withered rushes in a clump selected to hide the contour of his form and to match the color of his coat as far as possible. Lurking there, almost wholly immersed in water if need be, he waits his opportunity and seizes it. Well may his cunning be proverbial, for there is no animal or bird on which he preys that can baffle his pursuit. Even the prickly armor of the hedgehog proves an inadequate protection when the fox requires his presence in his larder. His larder! What a larder it is! The thought of it, the smell of it, savors of a whole army of tragedies.—London Tit-Bits.
